

AMIES, John H.

Born: April 26, 1946, Swafield, Norfolk, England.*

John was a close friend of England international and Wimbledon star Trevor Hedge and had second half rides at Plough Lane where he created a good impression. He was asked to ride for Peterborough in Division Two and was highly rated by the management at the East of England Showground as he put in a series of impressive and spectacular performances. These included a paid eight score against Rayleigh followed by paid seven against Long Eaton. A successful career looked to be assured but he lost his place in the side after a row with the management of the 'Panthers' and sadly drifted away from the sport.
