

COFFIN, Lewis Harry (Lew)Born: January 27, 1922, Holwell, Dorset, England.Died: February 3, 2015

A legend in grass track circles, Lew's exploits in speedway's sister sport could fill a book of their own, riding from just after the war until being well into his 50s. He showed little interest in a regular career on the shale, however, and his only official outings were representing Bristol and Exeter for short periods in 1948 - although he did captain non-league Weymouth in 1963. Lew was involved in the running of training schools in the south of England, and helped to discover many top line riders.
