

TAMBLYN, Desmond John (Des)

Born: August 14, 1924, St. Austell, Cornwall, England.

Des was a grass track rider from Cornwall, who made a useful start to his speedway career at Plymouth, scoring six points in the first two league matches of the season. However, he was forced to curtail his racing activities as he was in a reserved occupation of national importance and was unable to get enough time off from his job. He did manage one more appearance for Exeter but was unable to continue his career further.
